THE great civic celebration that the City of Newark has planned to commemorate its 250th Anniversary begins tomorrow.

For five whole months Newark will be transformed into a veritable fairyland of beauty—gorgeously decorated by day and as gorgeously illuminated by night.

And YOU are invited to participate in the festivities
Within twenty minutes' ride of your city looms another

Within twenty minutes' ride of your city looms another metropolis—NEWARK—the home, the aim, the purpose of the life of 400,000 citizens. Today, she stands, first in her native state, fourteenth in her country, and eleventh in the list of the great industrial centers of the United States—a great power in a country to whom power is as a breath of life—annually yielding products to the amount of $259,000,000.

A twenty minutes' ride brings you to one of the best paved cities in the United States, whose schools and public library are unsurpassed, and whose hills are the health of her homes and the glory of New Jersey.

Newark has planned something for everybody—athletic events of the first importance—fraternal, religious, educational and trade conventions—industrial exposition—expositions of the arts and sciences—a musical festival of unparalleled magnificence—parades of every conceivable variety—a historical pageant of surpassing beauty, hundreds of marvelous spectacles.

And pervading the whole program—the holiday spirit—for the City is celebrating.

Come—the keys of the City are extended in a broad spirit of welcome and informing hospitality.
